Home Search Profile +

This is the main home screen. It is an aggregation of all the friends you follow.

This is Megan's searches that she clicked on for one specific search term e.g. if she typed in "best movies of 2018" in the search engine and clicked on a website, the website she clicked on would show up here, and then the next image in this carousel would show up here which represents another image in that series, and then the third would be the same and so on.

If this were Megan's search the fact that it is second would mean that she started a new search e.g. best places to eat in Los Angeles. There would be a separate image carousel housing those searches she clicked on pertaining to that search term. Please let me know if you can do it this way.

This image is bigger to indicate you clicked on it. Might need to be even bigger though or have a highlight around it.

This is the screen you see when you click on a specific friend. You will only see their specific searches

You can share and when you click on the share button, the standard phone menu pops up with options to share it.

Then when you type in your own search you get the next screen.

I like the idea of using the I in the logo for the home button. This bar is not the right color.

When you first click on the search icon, we need a page that is designed and I think it would be easiest to either show a screen that has trending topics. Bing already has this built in from what I understand.

This is the main search results page which returns search results using the bing API.

You can see that there is the option to search All, images, video, news and maps. The goal is to return the associated image with every search result. This is different then image search results, where you only see images, these are still main text search results.

We will need a main search bar when you are in the search screen so you can move forward and backwards, go back to the main home search screen, and open a new search box.

This is the local search screen. When you click on the local search icon, you will see all the search results from people near you. These people opt in to let people see their search results when people are near them. You do not need to be following them to see their results.

I want to move this icon to the bottom, so it becomes a main icon you can click on all the time.

A profile page for a user named "Miss Sunshine". The bio reads: "Hey everyone, here is my bio! Lorem ipsum". The location is listed as "Austin, TX" and the date as "Jan 14". A blue "Follow" button is visible at the bottom.

This is a profile page of somebody you may want to follow. You can view their searched and favorites

The search results for the placeholder search term "Placeholder for Search Term". The first result is a post from "Miss Sunshine" showing hands assembling a puzzle on a wooden floor. The post has 11 likes, 3 comments, and 2 shares. The meta description is "Lorem ipsum dolor sit amet, consectetur adipiscing elit! ...". The share icon is highlighted with a blue arrow.

These three dots should only be visible to you for your Searches since they are for deleting your own searches. That you don't want to share on the app anymore, or if it wasn't your search and it was a friend, or somebody you follow, you can report it by clicking on those.

This should not be highlighted, that is the share icon and we are not on the share screen.

This is your profile screen that is why there are three little dots, so you can get a profile menu

These are all the searches you've had where you clicked on a result. We only want to show things you've clicked on, not every result that was returned in your search

These three dot is what you click on to delete your Search results if you want to not show it anymore. You Will get a pop up that says delete.

These are the things you've favorited from friends or even your own. That way you can easily access them later.

This is your edit profile menu.

You can also see you have 200 requests to follow you. You can have an auto accept on so you don't have to manually accept all these. In this case they did not have it turned on so they have to go accept them all.

This background might be complicated because of text color. Please advise

Don't need location or birthday

This is what it might look like if you click on edit your bio. This screen would pop up so you can make the changes.

You can click on followers, following here on this page

This is the screen of the person you are following. You can see the option to unfollow them (this means you are following them), you can also see their searched, and their favorites because they are sharing them. You would have gotten here by clicking on the persons profile image from the main feed page, or friend feed page.

This should not be highlighted blue.
That is not correct. Not sure why it is.

This is the main menu screen and an example of what it looks like if you click on notifications. I'm not sure this style of screen will work. We might need a full screen like on waze app or instagram when you edit your profile and see a full screen. Anyway, please advise so we can design this correct.
